FALL PRE- VIEW

Three small rectangular photographs are placed within the large text. The first, in the 'F' of 'FALL', shows a close-up of a man's face (John Travolta). The second, in the 'A' of 'PRE-', shows a man in a blue basketball jersey with 'USA' on it (Magic Johnson). The third, in the 'V' of 'VIEW', shows a woman with blonde hair wearing a yellow turtleneck (Barbra Streisand).

Are you still smoking the same cigarette you smoked before you knew about Lark's Gas-Trap™ filter?

By now you should know that cigarette smoke is more than just "tar" and nicotine. That all cigarette smoke contains gases as well.

By now you should also know that only Lark has the Gas-Trap™ filter and that Lark's unique filter actually reduces certain harsh gases more than any other filter on any other popular brand.

So what are you waiting for? Try Lark with the Gas-Trap™ filter. The gas reduction in Lark gives Lark an unusually smooth taste. One you'll want to stay with.

Only Lark has the Gas-Trap™

AS WE SEE THE NEW SEASON

This much is certain: It will be a late-starting season. It always is in an election year, what with candidates buying time and pre-empting the regularly scheduled shows, and the networks feeling duty bound to round up the campaign every so often during prime time.

Still, the new programs will go on the air amid the usual hoopla, and while no one on Madison Avenue will study the ratings too seriously until after Election Night, viewers will be lined up at the network smorgasbord tables starting this week—sampling the fare and deciding which goodies they might like to try again.

As usual the smorgasbord includes the expected herring and potato salad and a few new dishes for which we may have to develop a taste.

Movies are up, what with NBC's new Monday night motion-picture series. That makes it a network movie every night of the week. Sooner or later we'll be getting double features. Meanwhile, two Hollywood studios are busy turning out motion pictures made especially for television to supplement the movies made primarily for theaters. It's not easy to satisfy television's appetite for program material.

Specials are down a bit in number but, hopefully, up in quality, what with a slight increase in dramas scheduled, and the fact that this is a Summer Olympics year, with lots of coverage planned from the sites in Mexico City.

It's all rounded up in the pages that follow. Have a pleasant season!

Look at all the things we changed.

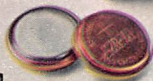

We gave all these new models pretty new faces. This model, the 174, has a spring motor that automatically winds the film for you. It's less than $30 in an outfit.

We took our budget model and added an electric eye that automatically sets the lens for you. It's the 134 and it's less than $28 in an outfit.

We also gave the 414 a special setting for pictures as close as two feet. Plus automatic film advance, automatic electric eye, and a fast $f/8$ lens. It's less than $50 in an outfit.

We gave this model, the 314, an easy setting for pictures as close as two feet. It has a fast $f/8$ lens and an automatic electric eye. It's less than $40 in an outfit.

We changed the batteries in all these new cameras to the button kind that is more dependable. This is the 124, our budget model. It's less than $20 in an outfit.

Look at all the things we kept.

Instant loading. All you do is drop in a film cartridge and shoot. This we wouldn't change for anything. It's one of the things that make these cameras far and away the most popular in the world.

The flashcube. You just pop one on when you need more light, and take four flash pictures without touching a bulb. You may be sure we didn't change that, either.

The less than $20 price. That's for the Kodak Instamatic 124 color outfit which includes the camera, Kodak film for color prints, flashcube, wrist strap, and batteries. In other words, everything you need to take the pictures you want.

Prices subject to change without notice.

Taking all three kinds. Another thing we would not change is the way you can take color snapshots, color slides or black-and-white snaps with these cameras. Good, clear pictures, anytime, anywhere.

The new Kodak Instamatic cameras.

You've got a fight on your hands

Housework is more than a chore. It's a constant fight against chapped hands, dry skin, painful cracks and irritation.

Luckily, help is as near as a friendly bottle of Dermassage Lotion.

Dermassage fights the good fight the way more than 4,000 hospitals do—with creamy-white, extra-effective skin medication.

Dermassage cools the burning sensation. Helps heal the cracks to relieve the irritation. And most of all, moisturizes thirsty skin instantly.

Our advice—be a winner over work-weary hands. Soften often with Dermassage Lotion. Or try super-moisturizing Dermassage Skin Cream.

Be sure to watch "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir,"

HELP

By JUDITH CRIST

If for nothing else the 1968-69 television season will go down—in the archives, that is—as the first to provide armchair movie-watchers with a network feature film every single night of the week. It will also provide movie buffs with a few of the best, a lot of the run-of-the-mill and some of the worst movies of the past several years, with a couple of awesomely perfect and an even greater number of perfectly awful films thrown in for those who revel in extremes.

With ABC promising us Dr. Strangelove, Cat Ballou and Mickey One, CBS offering The Night of the Iguana and Seven Days in May and NBC including Becket and To Kill a Mockingbird among its coming attractions, the roster of about 150 new-to-television films acquired by the three networks has a preseasonal glow. It further indicates that we'll be seeing for free at home spectaculars that seemed to be playing road-show engagements (reserved seats, advanced prices) only yesterday. "Art" films that never seemed to hit the smaller-city circuits and "sleepers" that missed their audiences first time around will also be ours for the asking, or at least for the dial-switching. As in seasons past, there will be movies that suffer from, and even more movies that are improved by, the cutting and fragmentation that programming, station-breaks and commercials cause. Local stations, exercising their option of substituting their own choice for the network offering, will undoubtedly continue to frustrate some viewers and, on rarer occasions, raise the cultural level for others.

For trend-spotters, as we all are, the new season's offerings indicate not only the near-total ascendancy of the color film over black-and-white but also the voracity of the medium where theatrical film is concerned. No more super-oldies are scheduled and one could, alas for the local movie-house box-office, conclude that today's offerings will be on the home-screen in a couple of years at most. Take NBC's statistics, since NBC will be offering the Saturday, Monday and Tuesday movies and has the longest list at the moment: Of its 43 new features (15 of its films will be reruns), 22 were in theaters within the past two years, 10 of these only one year ago.

NBC's "oldies" happen to be classics, however; make a point of seeing Barbara Stanwyck and Burt Lancaster in the 1948 suspense thriller Sorry, Wrong Number, and Shirley Booth's Oscar-winning 1953 screen debut as the hopelessly slovenly and ignorant but loving wife in Come Back, Little Sheba, with Burt Lancaster providing excellent support as the husband she drives to drink.

Becket, a brilliant screen version of the Anouilh drama of conflict between crude king and cultured churchman, stands solidly at the top of NBC's store of more recent films. This 1964 movie, a costume drama with content and character, follows the trail of the "intellectual" spectacular blazed by "Lawrence of Arabia." Its spectacle is derived from an era, and the spectacular effect is in the close-up in its detailed study of two men of opposite historic destiny who predicated their relationship upon that indefinable essence called "honor." Peter O'Toole, dark, vibrant and cunning as Henry II, is in brilliant juxtaposition to Richard Burton, the aloof and dispassionate Thomas Becket. The supporting cast, which includes John Gielgud, Donald Wolfitt, Martita Hunt and Pamela Brown, is superb supplement to both.

High on the NBC list, of course, stands the 1963 Oscar-winning To Kill a Mockingbird, the slightly sentimental story of the South of the 1930's that dealt with black-and-white relationships in perhaps oversimplified black-and-white terms (at least from today's viewpoint) but which beautifully portrayed the relationship of father and children, with Gregory Peck at his best as the Lincolnesque lawyer and Mary Badham and Phillip Alford as his youngsters. The children, both newcomers to film, are nothing short of perfection; it is their perceptions that give the film substance and the story stature.

There are a couple of run-of-the-mill "big" movies on the NBC list that hopefully will be trimmed down and thereby improved for home viewing. The Train, a super-duper "true" melodrama of the curfew-shall-not-ring-tonight school, updated in subject matter (French Resistance vs. nasty Nazis in 1944) and direction (John Frankenheimer's, television-oriented and fine in the hair-trigger suspense and action area), huffs and chuffs a lot but is dandy when it concentrates on its athletic hero (Lancaster again, at his most agile), its fanatic villain (Paul Scofield, impeccable as ever) and as great a set of life-sized Lionels as ever a movie-maker was given to play with. Lancaster's on hand again in The Hallelujah Trail, which in 1965 was in Cinerama and ran all of two hours and 45 minutes. Hopefully it too will be shaved down—'way down—to tolerable size for the simple-minded satire it attempts via the notion that cavalrymen are stupid, Indians are dumb crooks and temperance ladies most lovable when drunk. It's for those who find hilarity in having an Indian named Chief Walks-Stooped-Over walk stooped over.

Lest you think at this point that NBC is going to run a Burt Lancaster Festival (Judgment at Nuremberg and Birdman of Alcatraz are among the network's planned reruns), we'll turn to other goodies, for actually the NBC list is weighted in favor of a number of unspectacular but very satisfactory entertainments. There's Help!, the Beatles' second and even more delightful film, which boasts both plot and outstanding supporting players, and last year's The Jokers, an intriguing and brightly satiric tale of how the British crown jewels can be stolen and how today's young smarties aren't quite as smart as they choose to think themselves.

On the thriller side there's Charade, with Audrey Hepburn and Cary Grant and a lot of corpses that won't stay put; Gambit, wherein Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine mix fun and larceny and are involved with four plot twists that I defy you to figure in advance; and Masquerade, a first-class Bondless spy spoof that provides not only a plot glittering with triple agents and quadruple crosses but proof of the talents of Cliff Robertson (he's allowed to show them in every fourth film he makes). On the domestic-comedy front there's How to Murder Your Wife, with Jack Lemmon at his funniest and least leery, and for undomestic comedy there's the rerun of Some Like It Hot, with Lemmon and Tony Curtis flipping as flappers.

NBC's "art" acquisitions include Morgan and Truffaut's Fahrenheit 451. The first is for those whose cup of black comedy involves finding mental illness nothing short of hilarious; the second is a disappointing literal version of a Ray Bradbury sci-fi tale of a bookless future, with Julie Christie and Oskar Werner as disappointing as the French director's prosaic ap- → proach. And its hokey and/or perfectly awful offerings include not only Lana Turner going to hell as Madame X (the fourth version, with plot, direction and performance supplementing the smell of moth balls) but also Beau Geste (a third version, wherein the sand, in color, looks almost as old as the tale—but the kids will love it) and reruns of The Vikings and Taras Bulba. But not to worry: The Miracle Worker will also be rerun and you can count on seeing White Christmas right on schedule.

NBC also has some 12 to 15 tailored-for-television movies for its World Premiere offerings. Descriptions of those already slotted for the season indicate that the emphasis is on murder and melodrama: Burl Ives will be involved in murder by air crash in The Adversaries, Gene Barry in intrigue-via-locomotive in Istanbul Express, George Maharis in a World War II prison camp in Destination Mindanao, Shirley Booth in smuggling in The Smugglers, Ida Lupino in mystery in I Love a Mystery, Jonathan Winters in the theft of a Rembrandt in Now You See It, Now You Don't, Gig Young, Patrick O'Neal and Melvyn Douglas in group therapy in The Midnight Patient, and so on. ABC has two so far undescribed (or indescribable) tailored-for-television films on its roster and CBS has none.

CBS, which will continue in the Thursday and Friday movie spots, has 50 films on its roster for the coming season, with only five reruns among them. These include Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, North by Northwest and Splendor in the Grass, and they can be counted among the highlights of a list aglow with perfectly awfuls and marked by only a few newcomers of quality.

There are three CBS acquisitions that should be on anyone's must-see list. The Night of the Iguana, the Ray Stark-John Huston 1964 film version of Tennessee Williams' play, is an absorbing film of rare content and even rarer maturity. It provides an intense and painful exploration of loneliness among the misfits, the hag-ridden, the bedeviled, the captives of their own and other people's passions. It is a film distinguished by its cast and by Huston's directorial vitality and illuminated by Deborah Kerr's beauty and performance. Ava Gardner, Richard Burton, Sue Lyon, Grayson Hall—all contribute to making this one of the most cohesive, compelling and compassionate of films taken from a Williams work.

An American political thriller and a topical British service melodrama also qualify for the quality list. Seven Days in May, based on the best-seller, is that unusual film, an out-and-out thriller that has something of importance to say and says it in terms of a first-rate suspense movie. With a Rod Serling screenplay and under John Frankenheimer's direction, the film indicates in no uncertain terms what can—and almost does—happen here, with the cold, step-by-step disclosure of a military plot to take over the Government. Fredric March, Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster (Hey there, NBC!), Ava Gardner, Edmond O'Brien and Martin Balsam provide the primary characters; the film itself provides, in a way, a "traditional" complement to Dr. Strangelove (we'll get to that film later) in the concern it too has with the fears, frailties and evil potential of men in our age.

On a much less ambitious scale, the British film Guns at Batasi, a relative "sleeper" as far as 1964 audiences were concerned, deals with still another aspect of our time—the emergence of independent nations, the effect of declining imperialism upon those who have implemented it. The prime character, brilliantly portrayed by the impeccable Richard Attenborough, is the British sergeant who presides over the all-white sergeants' mess of a mixed Anglo-African regiment at Batasi, in →

Philco proposes The Face Test.

It's the best way to judge a color tv set. And it's very simple.

All you have to do is look at some real faces on the screen.

If a color tv can show you a good close-up of a face, it can show you a good anything else.

That's why Philco has concentrated on face tones. Every big-screen set we make has a special circuit that produces a wide range of flesh colors.

We also have an exclusive tuning system which makes sure you get the proper color signal on every channel.

Even in fringe areas. And there's an extra control to let you adjust the picture as sharp or as soft as you like.

Don't buy a color tv set if you've only seen it showing cartoons. Give it The Face Test.

Bugs Bunny looks good on almost any color tv. But people don't.

a recently independent African nation in the throes of a native revolt. There are remarkable performances by Jack Hawkins, as a war horse resigned to political expediency, and Flora Robson, as a self-important left-wing M.P.; they and Attenborough in particular turn clichés into original and observant truths. And add to these The Defector, a better-than-some reluctant-spy drama that gains its distinction by having Montgomery Clift give a memorably taut and tense performance in what proved to be his last film.

In the "entertainment" area CBS has two major musicals on hand: Seven Brides for Seven Brothers, an outdoorsy song-and-dance spectacular designed particularly for romantic little girls, and Gypsy, which retains much of the brightness and bite of the Broadway musical and proves too that Rosalind Russell is Rosalind Russell and not Ethel Merman, who created the mother role on Broadway. In the non-musical area, for Bette Davis fans, if not for the further glory of Miss Davis, there are Dead Ringer, with our star portraying identical twins in a sort of spooked-up "Stolen Life" and double-barreled dissertation on the nonpaying aspects of crime; and The Nanny, in which Miss Davis dares us to decide whether she or her 10-year-old charge did away with baby sister and put the poison in mommy's pie. Both ventures are sappy; but we fans know that any Bette Davis picture is better than none.

If you want to settle for the better-than-none bit, there will be—for those of us hungering for the suspense thriller that isn't overflowing with blood and distinguished by sadism—Libel, a courtroom drama lent quality by Dirk Bogarde in a triple role, and The Alphabet Murders, wherein Tony Randall is Hercule Poirot, and Agatha Christie does her best to survive. And on the spectacular front, CBS has Cheyenne Autumn—to be done in two parts?—which could go down in movie archives as John Ford's anthology of Western clichés—and let's remember that this makes it the anthology, with many of its ingredients originated by the maestro himself, 'way back when. The maestro too has slicked up the stale with an expert touch, and kiddies of all ages will be interested.

The main fun for CBS followers, however, is to wallow in any number of perfectly awfuls, with fine hours ahead of wondering whether Charlton Heston, chomping cigars and being mean to girls in a pineapples-and-miscegenation mishmash labeled Diamond Head, is more awfully perfect than George Hamilton and Jason Robards pretending they're Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman in Act One, or whether Debbie Reynolds looks cuter in a jeep or on a motorcycle as The Singing Nun than Troy Donahue does on a real live horse in A Distant Trumpet or James Franciscus does in front of a typewriter (migod, it's Thomas Wolfe, Mommy!) in Youngblood Hawke. There are lots more even worse than these in store for us; the CBS crop is a ripe one indeed.

ABC is playing it cagey at the moment about what's in store for movie-watchers on Sunday and Wednesday nights, offering a list of 38 movies with the promise that there are about a dozen more that could be added. But since the partial list happens to include Dr. Strangelove (with assurances that it will be telecast this season), Cat Ballou, Mickey One and Zorba the Greek at one end of the scale and The Oscar, Is Paris Burning? and John Goldfarb at the other, we don't have to carp about numbers.

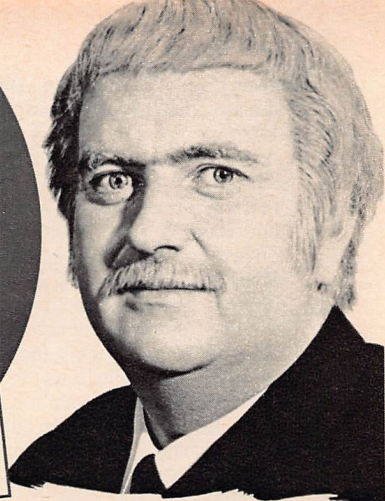

Our network-movie season is made with Stanley Kubrick's 1964 Dr. Strangelove, or: How I Learned to Stop →

Worrying and Love the Bomb, one of the most cogent, comic and cruel movies to come along in many a year, and perhaps the most significant to have been made in the past 20 years. Don't miss it, provided that you have the wit and stamina to withstand a savage satire on any number of our society's untouchables, the courage to hear a howl of outrage at the supersonic super-security idiocies of our time, the empathy to share Kubrick's realization that ironic laughter and ferocious caricature are the only possible response of a sane man to the insanities of the international race toward nuclear self-destruction and, ultimately, the maturity to face the fact that man himself is the doomsday machine for humanity's destruction.

One can only hope that ABC will follow its Xerox-sponsored example of last season with Kubrick's Paths of Glory and telecast this film, a masterpiece that runs only 93 minutes, without interruption, and that local outlets will not, as so many of them did last season, cop out and offer interested viewers something out of their own movie treasure-troves like "Beach Party Boola Boola" instead. (ABC will, after all, be giving Beach Blanket Bingo as a network presentation.)

Cat Ballou, that most lilting, delicious and delightful of take-offs on Westerns that catapulted Lee Marvin to long-delayed stardom; Mickey One, the brilliant pre-"Bonnie and Clyde" collaborative work of Arthur Penn and Warren Beatty that is only beginning to find its audiences; and Zorba the Greek, a paean to human vitality, passion and compassion, distinguished by the performances of Anthony Quinn and Lila Kedrova, were all top 1965 films.

The worst film of 1966 undoubtedly was Is Paris Burning?, one of those international-spectacular fiascoes in which just about everyone (only Quasimodo doesn't show up on screen) manages to make fact seem totally fictional. The Oscar is a perfectly awful must-see, if only so one can learn how Hollywood can indulge in self-denigration, and John Goldfarb, Please Come Home is the film involving Notre Dame footballers that, you may recall, caused Notre Dame to sue.

There are some in-betweeners on ABC's list—Crack in the World, a dandy sci-fi thriller; Suddenly Last Summer, a Tennessee Williams voyeur's delight where perversion and histrionics are concerned; 55 Days at Peking, a made-in-Spain Manchu Western that's about as spectacular as such items can get.

Then there are "watchables," chief among them, perhaps, The Chase, a series of shameless clichés and stereotypes balled up with such skill that you roll right along with them to a smashing conclusion—and hate yourself a half hour later for having been so thoroughly hooked. But with such pros as writer Lillian Hellman and director Arthur Penn, let alone actors Marlon Brando, Miriam Hopkins, Robert Redford, Jane Fonda, et al., doing the hooking—it's almost a pleasure.

For the kiddies and those with a fondness for nuns at play, there's The Trouble with Angels; there's a better-than-average Jerry Lewis movie, The Nutty Professor, for Lewis fans; and for Sinatra followers there's Sinatra at work and play, respectively, in Assault on a Queen and Come Blow Your Horn.

And fear not: The Robe will be rerun at the proper season and, happy event, The King and I is ABC's other announced rerun.

Thus the new network-movie season, which can't, as indicated, be all bad—or, of course, all good. But so little these days, on or off television, is simply black and white. END

MANY
SPECIALS

More big-star extravaganzas . . . fewer beauty contests . . . more original drama . . . less classical music . . . a new approach by the news departments—that's what's happening in the wide, wide world of television specials.

Last season television went on a specials binge, turning out more of the one-shot shows than ever before. The prospects for the new season, as far as sheer quantity is concerned, are for a de-escalation. There won't be quite so many as last year, but there will be several specials every week, and the list offers a lot for viewers to look forward to with great expectations.

THE STARS

Julie Andrews is one of the many stars who will have specials built around them. Hers is on NBC.

Ann-Margret does one for CBS called "Ann-Margret and the Men in Her Life," the men being, among others, Bob Hope, Jack Benny and Wally Cox.

Brigitte Bardot sings, dances, pouts prettily and wears clothes in an NBC show filmed at European locations.

Jack Benny is set for two new NBC hours and one rerun.

Joey Bishop is the star of an ABC opus titled "A Guide to the Swinging Bachelor."

Charlie Brown, now a seasoned TV star, will lead the "Peanuts" team onto the air in a new half-hour special, plus repeats of earlier triumphs, on CBS.

Carol Channing has a pair of specials on ABC's schedule. Pearl Bailey drops in for one of them, Carol Burnett and Danny Thomas for the other.

Perry Como does an hour for NBC.

Bill Cosby has a commitment for one NBC special too.

The Cowsills display 60 minutes of musical togetherness on NBC.

Bing Crosby also sings for NBC. Bob Hope, needless to say, is his guest.

Peggy Fleming, the Olympic figure-skating champion, glides into '68-69 television as star of an NBC special.

Tennessee Ernie Ford is slated for two folksy NBC hours.

Mitzi Gaynor is taping one show for NBC, with George Hamilton as a guest.

Andy Griffith, his weekly chores ended, stars in one CBS special.

Bob Hope is back with eight hour-long NBC shows of his own, plus his usual 90-minute visit to the troops.

Tom Jones (the singer, not the founding) heads up an ABC special, assisted by Richard Harris, Juliet Prowse and the 5th Dimension.

Alan King is preparing an NBC hour "of satire and music."

The Lennon Sisters harmonize in a special for ABC.

Sophia Loren is ogled again in an ABC film.

The Monkees romp through three specials for NBC.

Elizabeth Montgomery breaks away from Bewitched long enough to star in her first special, for NBC.

Jim Nabors is joined by Carol Burnett, Debbie Reynolds, Mary Costa and Vikki Carr in CBS's "Girl Friends and Nabors."

Jack Paar is tentatively expected to come through with an NBC special.

Elvis Presley is definitely doing one (his first) for NBC.

Specials and their participants represented on the previous page (counterclockwise from upper right): Eric Hoffer, Brigitte Bardot, Vladimir Horowitz, Jacques Cousteau, Kirk Douglas, Carol Channing, Julie Andrews, 'A Midsummer Night's Dream,' Bill Cosby.

Diana Ross and the Supremes, abetted by the Temptations, offer an hour of the Motown Sound over NBC.

Frank Sinatra purveys his own unique sound, plus the voices of Diahann Carroll and the 5th Dimension, on his CBS special.

Barbra Streisand sounds off on CBS too, in "A Happening in Central Park," a solo concert taped last year.

Danny Thomas has two specials—one with a Make Room for Daddy format, the other a variety show—for CBS.

Dick Van Dyke has one on CBS.

Andy Williams again does three NBC shots this season.

DRAMA

An Evening's Frost, on CBS, finds the veteran character actor Will Geer illuminating the life of Robert Frost by reading some of Frost's poems.

Arsenic and Old Lace, an ABC reincarnation of the comedy, stars Helen Hayes, Lillian Gish, Bob Crane, David Wayne, Fred Gwynne and Sue Lyon.

CBS Playhouse plans four new productions this year, leading off with "The People Next Door," by JP Miller, starring Lloyd Bridges, Fritz Weaver, Phyllis Newman and Kim Hunter; and following up with plays to be chosen from scripts by, among others, Paddy Chayefsky and Gore Vidal.

Hallmark Hall of Fame will raise its curtain five times on NBC. One production is a musical adaptation of "Pinocchio," with Burl Ives, Peter Ono and Anita Gillette.

Heidi, based on the children's book, was filmed in the Swiss Alps for a two-hour NBC special. The cast includes Maximilian Schell, Jean Simmons, Sir Michael Redgrave, Walter Slezak and Jennifer Edwards as Heidi. →

NBC Experiment in Television resumes this winter with eight new test-tube babies and two of last year's.

On Stage is a hopeful new NBC project comprising five contemporary dramas with upbeat themes. One has Sir Laurence Olivier narrating and Michael Caine, Sean Connery and Paul Scofield starring. Another will star Eli Wallach and Anne Jackson. Eight playwrights—Ron Cowen, Jan Hartman, Israel Horovitz, Nora Johnson, Ernest Kinoy, Leonard Melfi, Rod Serling and David Shaw—have been working on scripts.

The Royal Shakespeare Company is still waiting in the wings, despite CBS's promise of one play last season. If sponsors can be found, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," starring Diana Rigg, will materialize this season.

Silent Night was scratched from last season's lineup too. ABC has expanded it to two-hour length and again announced it for yuletide airing. It's the story of the Christmas carol, with Kirk Douglas narrating, James Mason starring and the UN Choir singing.

Spoon River, another holdover from last season, stars Jason Robards in a CBS dramatization of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology."

The Thanksgiving Visitor is ABC's sequel to "A Christmas Memory," the acclaimed Truman Capote teleplay. Geraldine Page will be back as Miss Sook. Another Capote play, "Miriam," is searching for a sponsor.

MUSIC

Bell Telephone Hour, disconnected from NBC's regular schedule, will be limited to three specials: A Christmas musicale, with Victor Borge and UN children; a view of the changing seasons across the U.S., with Bill Dana; and a "mod musical."

Vladimir Horowitz at Carnegie Hall, a CBS hour of piano virtuosity, is the first one-man concert ever ventured by a commercial network.

Young People's Concerts, with Leonard Bernstein explaining and the New York Philharmonic demonstrating (non-violently), are back again with four more CBS programs.

FOR CHILDREN

Babar the Elephant, on NBC, combines animation with the voice of Peter Ustinov. It is one of the season's several nighttime specials which may appeal to parents as well as their children.

Children's Letters to God, also NBC, uses both animation and live action to show "the world as it looks through the eyes of children." Gene Kelly narrates.

The Little Drummer Boy is an animated NBC Christmas special narrated by Jose Ferrer.

Mouse on the Mayflower, an animated NBC Thanksgiving musical, features the voices of Ernie Ford, Eddie Albert, John Gary and Joanie Sommers.

NBC Children's Theatre is expected to deliver two specials this season.

Pogo, Walt Kelly's comic-strip critter, gets an animated TV special of his own, on NBC.

SPECTACLES

Award shows include the Oscars, ABC; Emmys, CBS; Tonys, NBC; Grammys ("The Best on Record"), NBC; and "The Professional Sports Awards," NBC.

Beauty contests announced so far are Model of the Year, Miss Universe, Miss U.S.A. and Miss Teen-Age Amer-

Vitamin C is the plus in oranges. Polyunsaturates are the plus in Mazola.

Eat an orange and you get more than just good taste. You get the "plus" of Vitamin C.

Use Mazola Corn Oil and Mazola Margarine and you get more than good taste. You get the "plus" of polyunsaturates.

Mazola 100% Corn Oil does more than make light, crispy fried foods and tangy salad dressings. Mazola Margarine, whose major ingredient is liquid Mazola Corn Oil, does more than make toast, vegetables or lobster taste better.

Mazola, used in place of the more saturated fats, is a simply delicious way to help balance the fats in your diet with polyunsaturates.

Mazola makes good eating good sense!

Champale is unfair to champagne.

Champale looks, tastes and sparkles like champagne. But that's not the unfair part. Champale® Malt Liquor costs only a fraction of what you'd pay for champagne.

That's unfair. And the more Champale you buy, the more unfair it gets. Where do you buy Champale? You buy it wherever beer is sold.

Now, we think very highly of champagne. And we want to be fair. But to be fair to it, we'd have to raise the price of Champale.

And that wouldn't be fair to you.

ica, all on CBS (Miss America was covered last week, by NBC).

The Circus—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey's 1969 edition—does its stuff in an NBC special.

The Ice Capades and Ice Follies pay their annual visits to NBC too.

First Tuesday is an intriguing NBC catchall into which the network's news department will drop a major portion of its output. It's a monthly two-hour show whose contents will be determined by what is happening in the world. "We are going to stress investigative reporting," says the prospectus. A show may be devoted to a single story or to a dozen different topics, depending on what seems appropriate the first Tuesday of every month.

60 Minutes is the title and the length of a parallel CBS innovation—a bi-weekly news series with a "magazine format," telecast Tuesday nights, alternating with other CBS News shows. (On some nights it will be scheduled eyeball-to-peacock with its NBC counterpart, First Tuesday.) Each show will touch on several stories—anything from politics and education to movies and television. Harry Reasoner and Mike Wallace serve as on-the-air "editors." And a roster of some 50 "guest columnists" ranges from Barry Goldwater to Norman Mailer, from Bishop Fulton J. Sheen to Cleveland Amory.

Adventures in Unconquered Worlds, on CBS, is a series filmed in remote, primitive parts of the globe (such as Lake Rudolf in Northwest Kenya). William Holden leads the TV safaris.

The Making of the President 1968, by Theodore H. White, will become a TV documentary as well as a book, sometime in 1969.

The National Geographic Society has a new quartet of specials in the works, including one on America's national parks, for CBS.

Project 20 and NBC's Special Projects unit have five possibilities for the new season: "Down to the Sea in Ships," "Meet George Washington," and views of rural America, "The Carrier Franklin" and Washington, D.C.

The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau will offer up at least one new ABC episode—"Whales."

White Paper: The Ordeal of the American City is NBC's over-all title for four programs examining the state of our cities and their denizens. The first installment was scheduled Sept. 13; the others will be spotted throughout the year.

Who, What, When, Where, Why, Harry Reasoner's CBS series, will come up with seven new half-hours.

ABC News has several other news specials on its agenda—shows on Hemingway's Spain, Michelangelo's Sistine Chapel fresco, "A Sense of Wonder" (derived from Rachel Carson's book), Gettysburg, "Death Row, U.S.A." (written by Truman Capote), heart attacks, adoption, dedicated young Americans and skier Jean-Claude Killy.

CBS News is preparing studies of Melville's "Moby Dick," the Galapagos Islands (narrated by Britain's Prince Philip), Japan, and football's Vince Lombardi, plus a second conversation with Eric Hoffer.

NBC News is readying shows about Sicily (made by Roberto Rossellini) and David Humphreys' Arctic expedition, among others.

END

THE NEW SERIES

The "Ghost" is the ectoplasmic remains of one Capt. Daniel Gregg (Edward Mulhare, right), previous owner and current haunter of Gull Cottage, a wind-swept abode on the dreary New England coast. Mrs. Muir (Hope Lange, far right) is the new tenant. Captain Gregg, once quite a womanizer, is a salty old shade who balks at the idea of a woman occupying his house; and Mrs. Muir is a widow with two children who balks at the idea of sharing her bedroom with a deceased ship captain. A war begins. Things move, creak and clatter. Mrs. Muir's son Jonathan (Harlen Carraher, far right) sides with the ghost; her daughter Candace (Kellie Flanagan, shown with Harlen) is neutral; and their dog (Scruffy) is confused. And the ghost, although he won't admit it, has a wonderfully ghostly time. All in all, it'll take a heap of livin' (and a bit of dyin') to make a haunted house a home. But they're going to try. Debut: Sept. 21.

ADAM-12

If you have a police series—about the Los Angeles Police Department—and it's produced by Jack Webb, you might expect it to sound like Dragnet. Adam-12 sounds like Dragnet, with all the flat, clipped dialog; all the hyperaccurate, hyperjargon phraseology; and all the strange and wondrous character actors who all seem weirder than your Aunt Sadie's parakeet. Adam-12 is about an embittered patrol-car cop (Martin Milner, above, left) who just lost his partner to a crooked bullet. He is thinking about quitting the force, but, when given a new overeager, overbrave ("Who the hell do you think you are—Sergeant York?") young rookie (played by Kent McCord, above, right), he sticks around to keep the kid alive. Together, armed with the usual Webbian compassion, irony, disgust and guts, they go forward to meet the people, both good and bad. "Adam-12," by the way, is the code number of their patrol car. Debut: Sept. 21.

Was TV Fair to Democrats?

The Battle of Chicago was over, but the discord lingered on. TV's role in the violence marring the Democratic Convention began shaping into one of the fall's hot political issues. The question: did TV present a fair picture of events inside and beyond the barricaded convention hall or did it, instead, go out of its way to make the Democrats look bad? Everybody had a reaction:

● Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said his subcommittee on communications, headed by John O. Pastore, will look into the matter. "There certainly has got to be a better way" than the way TV covered the Chicago affair, he asserted.

● Vice President Humphrey, in a TV interview (on the Eastern Educational Network, scooping the big commercial chains), proposed that a "blue-ribbon committee" of distinguished, non-government citizens be named to look into the Chicago disorders.

● The Federal Communications Commission, which got complaints about TV's fascination with inattentive delegates at the Republican Convention in Miami Beach, awaited an expected flood of pros and cons from viewers of the Chicago fracas.

● Illinois Attorney General William G. Clark asked CBS and NBC to preserve all their film and video tapes of the disorders, apparently for a review of police behavior and accuracy of reporting.

● Chicago's Mayor Daley demanded network prime time "for the purpose of balancing the one-sided portrayal" by TV of the events of convention week. NBC offered Daley a Sept. 13 evening edition of Meet the Press, an invitation he did not immediately accept.

● Agitated viewers by the thousands rained telegrams and phone calls on networks and local stations praising or denouncing the TV coverage. NBC claimed that its Huntley-Brinkley team had never before received so many audience accolades ("Sock it to them, Chet!" "Pretty Gutsy, Dave. Thanks!"), but many callers defended the club-swinging police tactics. ABC estimated that newsman Jim Burnes' spirited attack on police brutality triggered 3000 phone calls in five major cities, nine out of 10 condemning Burnes' views.

It was proof again, if any was needed, of TV's awesome impact—and sobering responsibility.

The networks belatedly culled their movie stockpiles and picked the seven features they will unroll in prime time during their respective premiere weeks. CBS for days fretted whether it was proper to go with "Sex and the Single Girl" for openers, and finally gave in to the urge. ABC picked "Who's Got the Action?" starring NBC's Dean Martin. NBC tacked an hour on its Saturday night opener to accommodate "Becket." Otherwise the premiere bookings are: "Zorba the Greek" on ABC; "Gypsy" on CBS; "Madame X" and "I'll Take Sweden" on NBC.

THIS WEEK'S MOVIES

MADAME X (NBC), Monday
I'LL TAKE SWEDEN (NBC), Tuesday
ROUSTABOUT (ABC), Wednesday
WESTWARD THE WOMEN (CBS), Thursday
HAWAII FIVE-O (CBS), Friday

In some areas network movies may not be seen on the days indicated.

We're hitting the movie-a-night pace of the new network-movie season this week but there are only three new offerings in the mixed bag that includes a couple of pilot films, a couple of Presley orgies and some de-luxe schmaltz.

The de-luxe schmaltz is, of course, "Madame X," the third remake of that hoary chestnut about the gal from the wrong side of the tracks who marries rich, gets involved in a grand scandal, "disappears" to save her son and husband from shame, goes down, down, down that primrose path, winds up on trial for her life with son and hubby defending but not recognizing her and—oh well, if you're going to watch this one let's leave a little to the plot, if not to your imagination. This time it's Lana Turner taking over the juicy role that Pauline Frederick, Ruth Chatterton and Gladys George wallowed in in 1920, 1929 and 1937—and Ross Hunter has provided all that was lavish and lush in 1966 to add succulence. It's seldom that one gets so perfectly awful a movie to giggle at—and connoisseurs can have a fine time before the boring-bad aspects triumph. Besides, you can see the late Constance Bennett give an excellent performance in her last film role as Miss Turner's mean mother-in-law.

Another premiere is of "Hawaii Five-O," a feature-length pilot film for a CBS series starting on Sept. 26. The title is the name of a special police unit headed by Jack Lord; James Gregory, Nancy Kwan and Lew Ayres are involved in this espionage-adventure story. The second pilot film is a rerun of "The Outsider," starring Darren McGavin as the private eye whose NBC series starts on Wednesday. This film is distinguished by muddled and pointless plotting and excessive mayhem, murder and vice that will not, we like to think, be the hallmark of the series. McGavin is first-rate as always.

The week's other premiere is of "I'll Take Sweden," which traps Bob Hope in one of those my-but-we're-being-naughty pseudo-comedies about a papa trying to save his daughter from sex and/or marriage. The daughter's Tuesday Weld, the prospective ravisher is Frankie Avalon and the jokes about Swedish attitudes toward sex are exactly what you'd expect.

No surprises in the rest of the week's offerings either. "Westward the Women," a 1951 film which was shown twice on another network two years ago, has Robert Taylor as the gruff escort of a wagonload of brides-to-be making the rugged 2000-mile trek to the California frontier. It's plodding stuff at best. So—except for the devout—are the Presley films. In "Roustabout" Elvis is employed in a carnival owned by Barbara Stanwyck and gets to sing 11 songs. In "Paradise, Hawaiian Style" he is a helicopter pilot and gets to sing 10 songs and ogle a 9-year-old who gets to sing "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home?" Hawaiian style, yet. Stick with Lana, who does the suffering for us.

MATTHEWS TV & APPLIANCE MART BRINGS MOTOROLA Quasar COLOR TV THAT NEVER LEAVES YOUR HOME FOR SERVICE

Guaranteed for Two Years On All Parts and Picture Tube

ONLY QUASAR HAS NO TUBES TO BURN OUT

Only the Motorola Quasar has no tubes to burn out, generate heat, and often cause other parts to fail. The entire Quasar color TV set consists of 10 tubeless plug-in modules that can be replaced right in your own home. If necessary the entire Quasar set can be changed in under twenty minutes. Since this set uses transistors instead of tubes, the sound comes on instantly, followed by the picture 3 to 5 seconds later. Quasar is easier to fine tune than your black and white set because it fine tunes automatically. Quasar is virtually trouble free, so Motorola guarantees all parts and the picture tube for two years.

MOTOROLA QUASAR CHASSIS SLIDES OUT LIKE A DRAWER

Unique Quasar chassis slides out from the front to provide easy access to all parts as well as to make service adjustments. On some Quasar models the front panel removes to provide access to these controls as well as the modules. You save money on service because Quasar rarely needs service, but when it does need repair, the defective tubeless module can be replaced quickly and inexpensively right in your own home.

This Magnificent New Painting Reproduced in Full Color for Your Home

"Brothers United"

by noted artist
Alton S. Tobey

ONLY $1

TWICE within five years an assassin's bullet has claimed the life of an American statesman named Kennedy. Now, in fitting memorial tribute, noted artist Alton S. Tobey has painted this beautiful portrait of John and Robert Kennedy. A superb full-color art reproduction of this outstanding painting is now available to you in an ideal size for framing—14" x 18"—for only $1. This is a portrait of greatness, truly deserving a place of prominence in your home and office. This is a painting you will value and cherish for a lifetime. The small black-and-white illustration above cannot possibly show you the exquisite colors and detail rendered by the artist. Only when you actually receive this magnificent portrait will you appreciate its rare dramatic beauty. We urge you to order promptly while the supply lasts. (Limit: three per family, please.) This offer will not be repeated in TV Guide.

The Curse of CRIME

YOU ARE THE TARGET . . .

Every 10 seconds a serious crime is committed in the U. S. Crime is rising nine times faster than population. Only one out of three crimes is reported. CRIME IS OUR MOST CRITICAL DOMESTIC PROBLEM.

There are steps you can take to protect yourself, your family and home. Send for a new free booklet—just off the press—prepared with the cooperation of the Los Angeles Police Department and law enforcement agencies. It's loaded with shocking facts that paint the true picture of crime in our society. It also presents step-by-step instructions on how to "harden the target" so you won't be a victim.

This full-color booklet contains logical, useful answers to today's chaotic crime conditions. Send now for your vital eye-opening copy.

CLOSE-UP

BARBRA STREISAND

9:00 5 10 12

SPECIAL COLOR On a warm June night in 1967, 130,000 New Yorkers ventured into the beautiful—and sometimes dangerous—Central Park. The attraction: a one-woman "happening" named Barbra Streisand.

Cameras capture the spontaneous mood of the evening, from helicopter views of the Manhattan skyline to shots of the crowd seated on the grass.

Framed by a backdrop of trees and skyscrapers, Barbra offers a program ranging from her highly stylized interpretation of "Happy Days Are Here Again" to a comic view of flying saucers.

Highlights of the hour include "The Nearness of You," "Down with Love," "New Love Is like a Newborn Child," "Cry Me a River," "Love Is a Ball," "He Touched Me," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "Secondhand Rose," "People" and "Silent Night."

Mort Lindsey orchestra. (60 min.)

9:00 BONANZA It's the tenth

Is there really a "Sixth Sense"? Could you actually have ESP power and not know it? Now explore the most comprehensive "encyclopedia" of occultism ever published — the Complete Illustrated Book of the Psychic Sciences. Examine feats of seers, mystics, yoga masters, mediums — even voodoo priests. Discover techniques claimed to influence dice... restore vigor... dominate thoughts... magnify physical strength... banish pain of illness... and much more. Also discover "rules" for reading minds, dreams, tea leaves, palms, head shapes, cards, numbers, stars. (You may even wish to undergo the 15 tests for uncovering hidden ESP powers such as telepathy, telekin-esis, precognition, etc. — they begin on page 377!) From parapsychol-ogists to occultists, the Complete Illustrated Book of the Psychic Sci-ences is truly a "must" reference for anyone interested in psychic phe-nomena. You may have this $5.95 "encyclopedia," if you wish, as one of your introductory books, with trial membership, in the new Universe Book Club.

8:30 3 4 JULIA

DEBUT COLOR Diahann Carroll makes her series bow in this half-hour comedy, created by veteran TV writer Hal Kanter, who calls it "the first show about a Negro."

The series revolves around widowed nurse Julia Baker and her 5-year-old son Corey. Tonight, in the series' pilot film, Julia applies for a job at an aero-space center, but getting hired will be another matter. It depends on who has more say—the stuffy personnel manager or the no-nonsense Dr. Chegley (series co-star Lloyd Nolan).

Back at the apartment, Corey is also meeting challenges: making a new friend and trying to promote a romance for his mother.

Corey: Marc Copage. Marie Waggedorn: Betty Beaird. Earl J. Waggedorn: Michael Link.

Reduce Size of WAISTLINE

NOW—Take it easy while you reduce the size of your waistline and abdomen. Let Relax-A-cizor exercise this area for you while you rest or read.

No Weight Loss. Not a vibrator or massage device! Not a bicycle or chair! Relax-A-cizor gives the waistline and abdomen active exercise... without any effort on your part!

It's a fact! Many men lack good muscle tone because they don't get enough exercise. Relax-A-cizor gives effortless, concentrated exercise to such body areas as the waistline and abdomen. Regular use causes this area to reduce in size measurably to the extent these muscles lack tone because of insufficient exercise. And the less the muscle tone the greater the degree of size reduction.

uled: "Marijuana." Whatever you call it—"grass," "pot," "blades" or any of a dozen or so code names—it is illegal marijuana. Producer Harry Morgan has created what he calls a "reasoned, unemotional examination" of the many complicated aspects of pot. In interviews . . . Law officers air their views. Young people argue in favor of smoking marijuana and making it legal. (It's presumed to be safe, and is therefore much more popular than dangerous hallucinogens like LSD.) Medical spokesmen discuss it as a non-narcotic that may—or may not be—harmful, and call for more research. (Films of a lab experiment show a man who is "high" on THC—synthetic marijuana.) Mike Wallace reports. (60 min.)

Doctors Find Proven Way to Control Psoriasis

Help Scaly Patches, Red Spots, Roughness, Dry Skin, Itching, Clear up Completely or Definitely Improve.

At a famous Eastern Hospital, scientists have succeeded in combining 5 medications proven most effective in the treatment of psoriasis. Each of the 5 embarrassing symptoms of this skin disturbance, whenever it appeared, has been relieved by this 5 ingredient formula—even symptoms of many years standing.

This 5 ingredient formula can be bought today without a prescription under the name Mazon™. Mazon helps break up psoriasis scales, then penetrates deep to combat the formation of new scales. All this, while Mazon relieves the itching, redness, and inflammation. Sufferers report Mazon leaves the skin feeling fresher and smoother faster.

Mazon gives you more of the medications skin specialists prescribe. It is non-greasy, leaves no medicinal odor. Guaranteed the most effective remedy you can buy without a prescription or your money back from Thayer Laboratories, Jamaica, N.Y. 11431.

A suborbital flight is en route to London in 1983 when it passes through an electrical storm and a mysterious white cloud. When it lands, buildings are as tall as mountains—taller even; cars are the size of aircraft carriers; fields of grass are jungles. The crew and passengers have no idea where they are, but wherever it is, it's populated by human-appearing giants; and the giants are trying to catch them. Gary Conway is stalwart as Capt. Steve Burton; Don Marshall is firm as his co-pilot, Dan Erickson; and Heather Young is efficient as stewardess Betty Hamilton. The passengers are a more mixed bag. Deanna Lund plays a scatter-brained female, while Don Matheson is impatient as a busy tycoon. Stefan Arngren is a doughty little boy with a dog, and Kurt Kasznar plays a cowardly crook who keeps screaming, "I want to get out of here!" In the circumstances, who wouldn't? Debut: Sept. 22.

10:00		Mission: Impossible	Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show

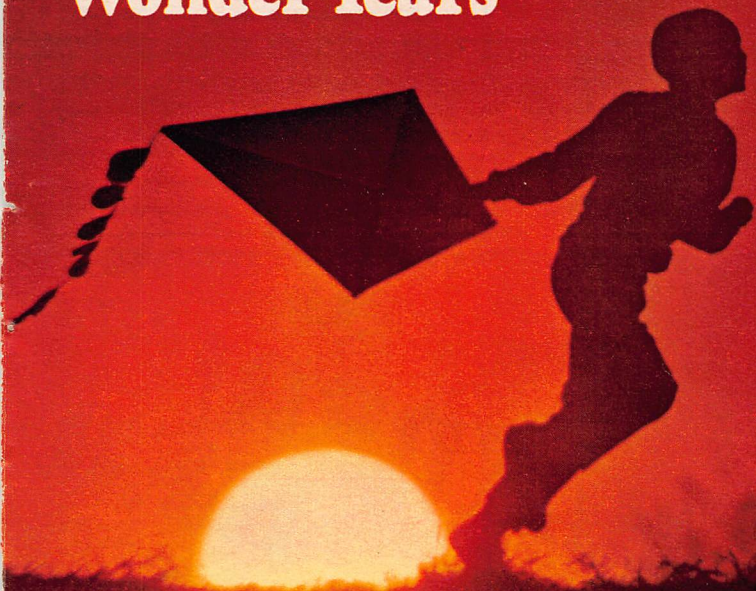

Phyllis Diller is the hostess of this variety-cum-talk show, which, in many respects, resembles The Don Rickles Show, also debuting this season. There will be an opening monolog performed by Miss Diller (with asides to and from comedian Norm Crosby), followed by a talk spot, replete with a simple couch, featuring a prominent guest (Don Rickles and Johnny Carson already are scheduled). People involved hope that each of the weekly guests will be somehow newsworthy, and it is reported that Miss Diller dreams of having great world figures in for a chat. The variety segment is just that—people like the Doodletown Pipers, Kate Smith, Hugh O'Brian, the 5th Dimension, Chuck Connors, the Smothers Brothers and Liberace. Variety? That's variety. Debut: Sept. 15.

In a new adaptation of a relatively old Disney process, producers Hanna and Barbera have superimposed live players against drawn backgrounds and animated cartoon characters. Huck Finn (Michael Shea, below, left), Tom Sawyer (Kevin Schultz, right) and Becky Thatcher (Lu Ann Haslam, middle) are the traditional Twain pre-adolescents who are chased into the traditional cave by the traditional Injun Joe (Ted Cassidy). From there on it's all fantasy. The background scenes change gradually from realistic to animated. A stream in the cave changes, much as Alice's puddle of tears does, into a raging sea, and the children are finally washed to strange fairy-tale places—places such as a Swiftian Lilliput, which is populated by cartoon characters (both good and bad). While the real-life relatives of the real-life Tom and Becky worry back in Hannibal, Mo., Huck, Tom and Becky are alive and well in an animated fantasy world. Debut: Sept. 15.

Mayberry is, as everyone knows, the town in North Carolina where Andy Griffith made a couple of million bucks being sheriff. Now Andy is more or less gone, but in his stead comes a young gentleman farmer and widower (with, not surprisingly, a young son, Mike—played by Buddy Foster—below, front, right). The widower is Sam Jones (Ken Berry—rear, right) and, not long after he arrives, he's elected to the Mayberry town council. Naturally, he has no political experience at all. He's a homey bumbler. Some of the old regulars remain on the scene to help him bumble: George Lindsey stays on as Goober Pyle (rear, left); as does Frances Bavier as Aunt Bee (center). Also, Jones has a girl friend, Millie Swanson, played by Arlene Golonka (front, left). Andy and Barney will stop back now and again for a visit, so Mayberry won't look all that different. Debut: Sept. 23.

HERE'S LUCY

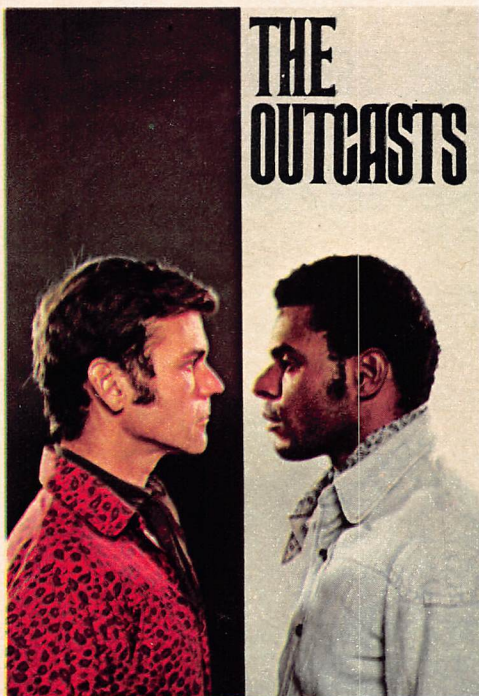

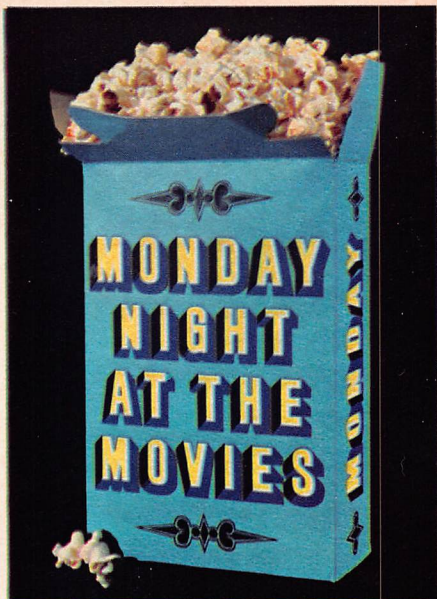

Lucille Ball is back again, and this time she's brought the family. Son Desi Jr. and daughter Lucie are around to help mater in this revamped version of her long-standing show. In this one, Lucy is an employee of "The Unique Employment Agency" (run by Gale Gordon). The agency provides unusual services for unusual people, which, of course, gives Lucy chances to get involved in all sorts of strange things. For instances: Lucy as a secretary to an actress who eats too much (Shelley Winters) —Lucy prevents gluttony by eating everything herself; Lucy substituting for her daughter as a rock 'n' roll singer; Lucy picking up the wrong suitcase in an airport and being mistaken for a spy. In general, it's the same old Lucy, getting completely embroiled in insane situations; becoming confused, muddled and befuddled while doing the same to others; and generally just slapsticking in another round of madness. Debut: Sept. 23.

Still yet even another more further addition to television's movie lineup is NBC's Monday night offering. Some of these films have been seen on television before, but most are new to the tube, including a number of made-for-television World Premieres. Those previously shown on TV include "Exodus" and "Judgment at Nuremberg" (both two-parters); the first-run-for-television pictures include "The Art of Love" (James Garner and Dick Van Dyke) and "Charade" (Cary Grant and Audrey Hepburn). Typical of the World Premiere movies is "Now You See It, Now You Don't," with Steve Allen and Jonathan Winters. (For more information, see page 13.) Debut: Sept. 16.

"The Outcasts," Earl Corey (Don Murray, far left) and Jemal David (Otis Young, left), are both outcasts from their society (the post-Civil War West) and from each other. Corey was a Southern aristocrat and slave owner. David is an ex-slave. Finding themselves dispossessed—one by the ravages of war, the other by freedom—they make an uneasy alliance in order to survive. They live, eat and hunt together, like a thoroughly mismatched married couple, and they are forced to become bounty hunters and Indian fighters, standing together against others in times of duress and battling each other the rest of the time. Because of their respective backgrounds, they distrust each other, snarl at each other and propagate a bond of respectful bigotry. They don't get along so well. The series also underlines the general feeling of prejudice and animosity toward Negroes common in the West of the time but does make clear a long-overlooked historical fact: There were, after all, black cowboys, too. Debut: Sept. 23.

The Doris Day Show

Tuesday

Everybody's all-American girl has finally come to TV with her own series. She is, of course, Doris Day, who plays a young widow (with sons, Billy and Toby, played by Philip Brown and Todd Starke respectively; and a large sheep dog). She is Doris Martin, singer, and, fed up with the big city (they don't say which), she returns to the ranch of her father (Denver Pyle), outside of a small town of about 20,000 population (they don't say which). Also living there are a housekeeper (Fran Ryan) and a hired hand (James Hampton). During their stay in the wilderness Miss Day and group become involved in the town's activities (political and otherwise), meddle in each other's romances, get embroiled in humorous tragedies (like the children take Mom out for a steak and discover that they have no money), and mercifully help out the poor locals in their bucolic trials. Debut: Sept. 24.

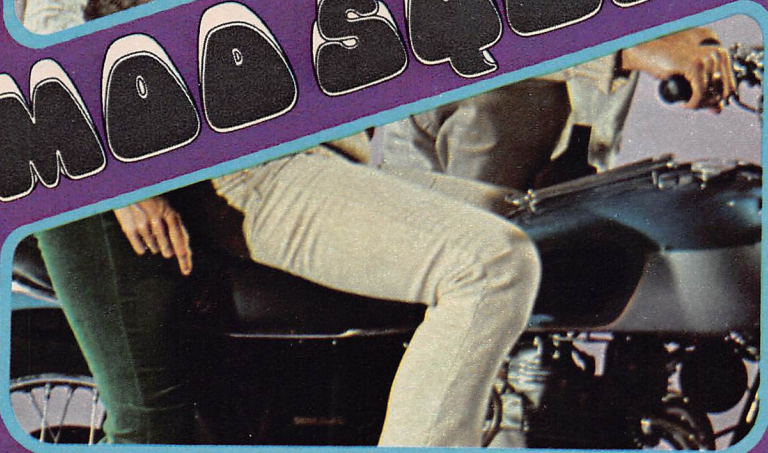

This is a bit unusual for a television series. It has a musical-comedy format in which sketches are liable to take off into song and dance at the drop of a G-major chord (the executive producer is Marvin Marx, a long-time writer for Jackie Gleason). It is taped before a live audience (the first three episodes will be done in Hollywood, the rest in a theater in New York); and there will be two guest stars per program (e.g., Tony Randall, George Burns). The story, episodic in nature, concerns Robert Dixon, a young man starting out in life (Robert Morse, far right) and his girl friend (E.J. Peaker, right). The plot progresses ever so tunelessly as they get married, go on their honeymoon, set up house-keeping and have a baby. Throughout, there will be original songs, choreography and sketches—all within the confines of a standard stage setup, and all done in a very Broadway-stage style, with flat backdrops. Debut: Sept. 24.

That's Life

"The Mod Squad" comprises three young social outcasts who, after various run-ins with the law, are recruited by the fuzz to infiltrate various contemporary rackets and situations into which, because of their youth and social standings, they could easily blend: such as the drug users, juvenile gangs and all the problems associated with the current Los Angeles "scene." Pete Cochran (Michael Cole, middle) is a rich-kid rebel out of the James Dean mold; Julie Barnes (Peggy Lipton, left) is a hippie-type chick from a rough background and Linc Hayes (Clarence Williams III, right) is a ghetto Negro with no great love for the white establishment. Their mentor, police contact and general aggravation is Capt. Adam Greer, played by Tige Andrews. Together the kids romp through semi-orgies, pot parties, motorcycle blasts and some pretty hostile older company affiliated with the usual rackets. Debut: Sept. 24.

Like Ben Cartwright, Murdoch Lancer (Andrew Duggan, below, middle), the paterfamilias of Lancer, has sons—this time only two—borne by different mothers. He hasn't seen the boys in a good many years and, apparently, they have no desire to see him. But the bad guys are out to take over his ranch, and he's been crippled by a sniper's bullet. Sending for his offspring, he offers each one-third of the ranch. They stay. They stay to fight the range robbers, vie for the hand of the late ranch foreman's daughter (Elizabeth Baur), bicker with the old man and display their different characters. Scott Lancer (Wayne Maunder, left) is the son of Lancer and a refined Irish lass: He became a dandy and a Union cavalryman. Johnny Madrid (James Stacy, right) is the son of Lancer and a fiery Mexican wench: He became a cynical gunfighter and bandit. Just a normal Western family. Debut: Sept. 24.

Julia

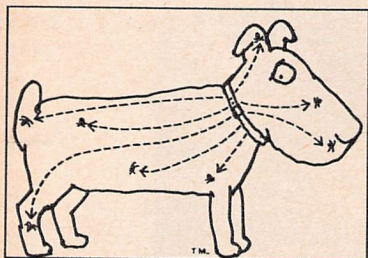

Tuesday

This may be television's "year of the Negro." For the first time a series has a black star (Diahann Carroll, above) who plays a contemporary Negro living in a white environment, and directly subject to all the prejudices and harsh realities that that implies. She plays a widow with a young son (Corey, played by Marc Copage, above) and she's a nurse. Not very typically, she lives in a beautiful and obviously expensive apartment (she is quite friendly with her white neighbors downstairs—the result of her son's befriending the neighbors' son), and dresses in fashionable (and obviously very expensive) clothes. Most whites, however, react to her as a Negro: She has trouble finding a job; people notice; bigotry is thinly veiled. But one particular tonic is Julia's boss—Dr. Chegley, played by Lloyd Nolan. He's bluff and blunt and kindly. "Negro?" he says. "So what?" Debut: Sept. 17.

Beware. Summer fleas are looking for a winter home.

Fleas don't die in the fall. They move inside where it's warm, along with your dog.

On arrival some may travel to other favorite resort areas like your dog's bed, or even your living room rug.

But when your dog is wearing a Sergeant's Collar, he's absolutely flea-proof for three solid months. Can't pick up fleas. Or bring them in.

Please don't expect last summer's Collar to keep fleas away. It's time to buy a fresh Collar.

Or else.

Sergeant's® Sentry® Dog Collar is guaranteed to make your dog flea-proof for three full months. Or your money back.

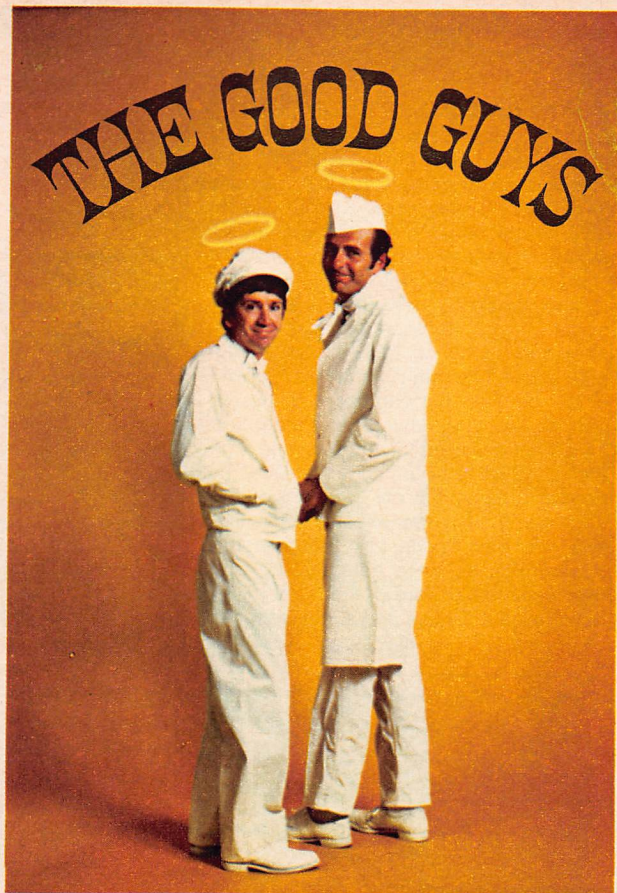

HERE COME THE BRIDES

Wednesday

The locale is Seattle circa 1870, a muddy, dreary logging camp, population approximately 150—mostly grubby men plus a few dance-hall girls. What the men need is wives. The leader of the loggers, handsome, stalwart Jason Bolt (Robert Brown, above, middle), has the remedy, so he and his two brothers, Jeremy, the shy one (Bobby Sherman, right), and Joshua, the frivolous one (David Soul, left), sail off to Massachusetts and get some brides. When they return, the girls are a bit taken aback by the state of manhood in Seattle, but, with the help of Lottie the golden-hearted saloonkeeper (Joan Blondell) and the men themselves, they are soon setting the place aright. Jason has one other problem. Aaron Stempel, scheming sawmill owner, will win the Bolts' woodland if any of the girls defect. The skunk! Debut: Sept. 25.

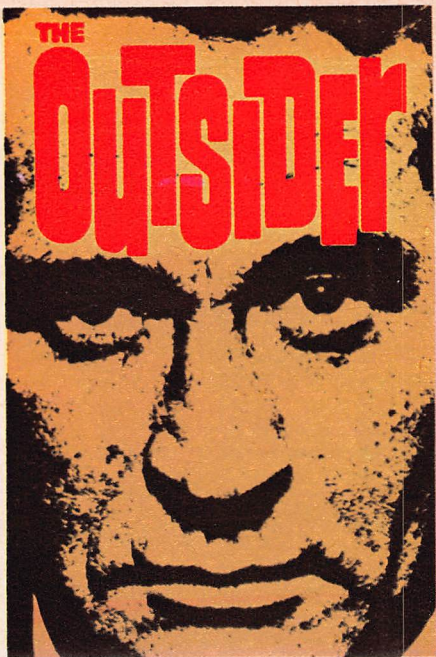

This one's a situation comedy about two life-long buddies, one an unmarried cab driver (Rufus, played by Bob Denver, right), the other a married owner of a diner (Bert, played by Herb Edelman, far right). They are losers. Everything they get involved in (usually some hare-brained scheme like "low-calorie aspirin") is a flop. There are echoes of the old Honeymooners idea here, but without the bickering and recriminations between Bert and his wife, Claudia (Joyce Van Patten). Actually the whole thing is pretty subdued, with the gentle dimwits' machinations usually benefiting someone, if not themselves. Time and time again Bert tries to avoid some lunatic scheme proposed by Rufus; time after time he is embroiled. It's slapstick, fun and frivolity throughout, but in the end the boys come out relatively unscathed. Debut: Sept. 25.

Wednesday

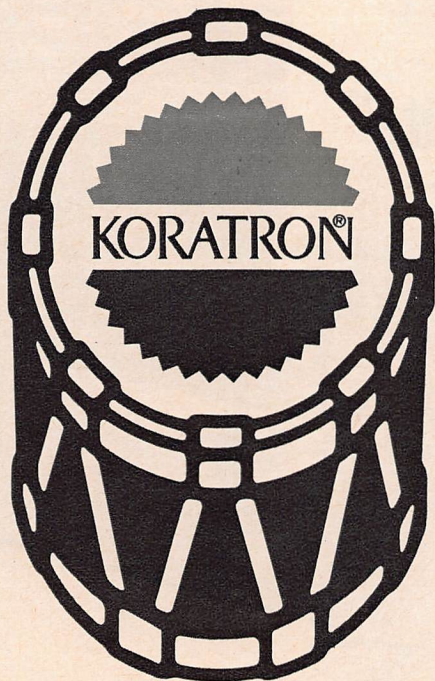

Darren McGavin is "The Outsider," David Ross. Ross is an outsider—a hard-talking, hard-drinking private investigator; an ex-con (ex-con private investigator?) who drives a scruffy, beat-up car, sleeps in a Murphy bed in his scruffy apartment-cum-office (in the "Hollywood Versailles"—no similarity to the original), and keeps his telephone in his refrigerator next to his one lousy bottle of milk. He's cynical, gutter-smart, tough and somewhat kindly beneath the carapace. He works out of Los Angeles, where there's a lot of hitting, a lot of hard driving and the expected amount of extra-legal finagling (especially on the part of the "outsider"). It's as though bits and pieces of Sam Spade, Mike Hammer and Boston Blackie were gathered up and re-assembled to prowls the dim hangouts, palatial estates and sunny beaches of Southern California. Debut: Sept. 18.

Hawaii Five-O is a mythical special investigative branch of the Hawaiian police force—motorized, computerized, specialized and tough. It deals with spies, double agents, dope dealers, doom dealers and other more insidious forms of fiends. Its top man is Steve McGarrett (Jack Lord, below), a rough, free-wheeling cop in the Mannix mold out of James Bond. (He "takes orders only from the governor . . . and God. And sometimes they have trouble.") McGarrett and his men (James MacArthur, Kam Fong, and Zulu—who not only is rough, but a funny fellow too) are the crème de la crème, working out of the splendid state capitol (" . . . the only royal palace on American soil"), and allowed the freedom to deal with the baddies as they will—which is very cleverly, and not at all gently. Visually, the series offers the Hawaiian landscape, some zingy modern sets, and lots and lots of girls. Debut: Sept. 26.

Thursday

"Blondie" is the most popular (in terms of readership) comic strip in the world. In the 1940's and early Fifties it provided the basis not only for some "B" movies but also for a radio and a TV series. Now it's back again in television, with Patricia Harty (above, left) as the redoubtable Blondie and Will Hutchins (right) as her ever-bemused husband, Dagwood Bumstead. This is really a comic strip translated directly to television—trees bend in the vacuum left by the speeding Dagwood; Dagwood and his boss, J.C. Dithers (Jim Backus), are continually at each other's throats (literally). Practically the whole Chic Young crowd is around: daughter Cookie (Pamelyn Ferdin), son Alexander (Peter Robbins), neighbor Tootsie Woodley (Bobbi Jordan), and Daisy (middle) the Bumsteads' dog (played by a dog, Daisy). Marital madness is, of course, the key phrase here, as is Blondie's ineffable sense of illogic. Debut: Sept. 26.

The "Unknown" is not the unknown of outer space or of the supernatural as it was in the case of Twilight Zone, but rather the inner space of twisted minds and frightfully real situations. This British anthology series deals with shock much in the Hitchcock manner—the terrifying confrontation between average people and the psychotic; the creak in the bedroom door at 3 in the morning; the little old lady down the block who seems so nice, but . . . The emphasis is on psychological chills; the terror is not the ghost in the crypt but rather the little boy who seems to have a terrifying power over others. The unknown is the very real blackness in the corners of everyday life, and the journey might be just across the street. Familiar guest stars (such as Carol Lynley, below) will appear in tales which will be written by some of the most promising young writers in the horror-suspense field. Debut: Sept. 26.

A medically sound treatment for most painful hemorrhoids

First, stop the pain. And the itching. Nupercainal® is a unique combination of lubricants plus the most effective topical pain reliever available without a prescription. It relieves pain and itching fast. Provides much longer lasting relief. Nupercainal also soothes inflamed tissue—in turn helps the natural healing process. Moreover Nupercainal facilitates natural movements.

Next, doctors recommend, use common sense. Stay off spicy, highly seasoned foods. Avoid constipation and what causes it. Such as lack of rest and bad eating habits. Stay regular. Sitz baths aid comfort and natural healing.

Above all, use caution. Nupercainal brings relief in most cases and for most types of hemorrhoids. But if symptoms are severe, persistent, frequently recurrent...if there is rectal bleeding...do see your doctor.

Caution, Common Sense, & Nupercainal

THE UGLIEST GIRL IN TOWN

Thursday

Female impersonation is nothing new to television. Milton Berle was at it way back in the beginning. But this series would seem to be the first that could really be called a mini-drag situation comedy. It concerns a young Hollywood talent scout who becomes enamored of an English starlet (Patricia Brake). Timmy, the beamish lad (played by Peter Kastner, left), through the strange graces of his photographer-brother (Gary Marshal), somehow gets himself photographed in hippie garb. When the pictures turn up in a London ad agency, the chaps over there think Timmy's a girl, and the best modeling thing to come down the runway since Twiggy. Off to London in skirts our boy goes, to a complement of pounds sterling, and a town house—to model girlishly by day, and to woo his starlet boyishly by night. All very campy and chaotic; but the views of the London scene are right there and authentic. Debut: Sept. 26.

Who needs more iron— you or your mini-daughter?

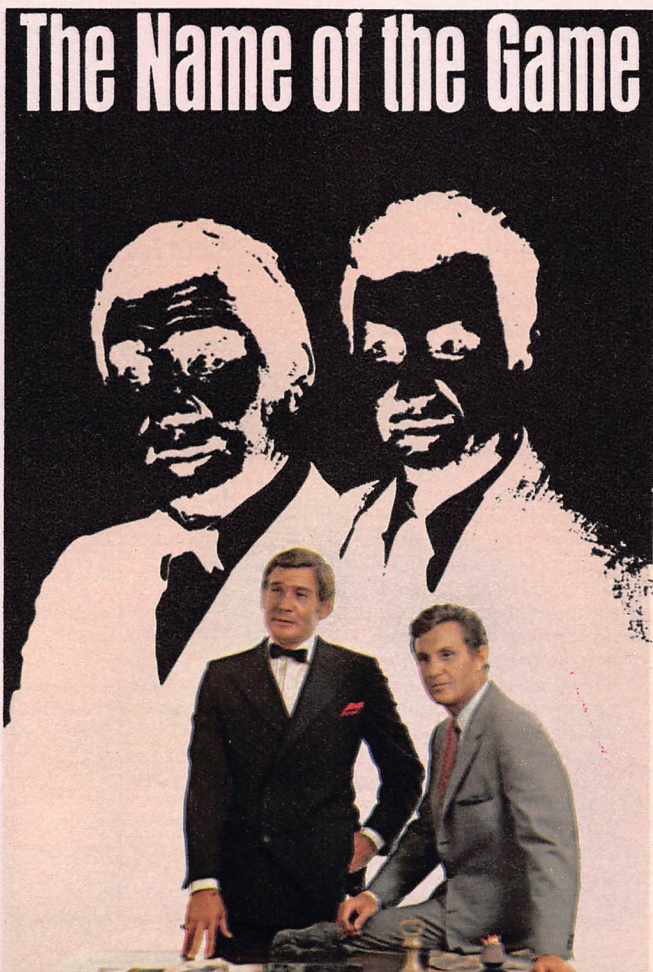

You both need exactly the same. From the day your mini-daughter starts menstruating, she needs 50% more iron than a grown man. Just as you do. The iron lost with every period must be replaced. If you're not sure you eat enough iron-rich foods, you need our iron pill: One-A-Day® (Brand) Multiple Vitamins plus Iron. Just one pill a day gives you all the iron and all the vitamins you normally need to take. The whole bit in one little pill. Great for the inner you.

Friday This is a movie-length series with a trio of stars who trade off leads each week. It's about a magazine empire headed by tycoon-type Glenn Howard (Gene Barry, below, left), who is a real zesty guy, dedicated to his business but also a fancier of women and good things (sort of a Henry Luce-cum-Hugh Hefner). One-third of the series will deal with Mr. Howard's exploits in the world of bad guys, good girls and the high life. Another third is taken up with the rough times of Dan Farrell (Robert Stack, right), who is the senior editor of Howard's Crime magazine. Farrell doesn't like criminals (one killed his wife). Naturally his is the really rough-and-tumble portion of the series. The final third of the trio is Jeff Dillon (Tony Franciosa), top writer for Howard's People magazine, and also a bon-vivant crime fighter. For some reason, all three sometimes share a girl Friday in the person of Susan Saint James. Debut: Sept. 20.

Friday

Mr. Warmth himself—Don Rickles, master of the snarl, the vicious riposte, the blackjack insult and the ego-busting shred, is the lead of this, his own lighthearted and kindly show. And a mixed bag it is. It will open with a monolog, then switch to an audience-participation segment during which Rickles will interview members of the studio audience who have a certain odd "claim to fame" (e.g., a belly dancer, a karate expert, or a wig and sideburns maker). These people become a "claim-to-fame panel," which will then ask impertinent questions of a guest star (Johnny Carson has been booked for one show). This will be followed by a series of sketches, demonstration gags, surprise phone calls and stunts which will be fitted to the character of the guest star. Rickles ("You'd better watch, dummy") will close each week by singing topical satirical lyrics to "Whoopie." Debut: Sept. 27.

National Educational Television, known to its friends (and it could use a few more in Congress) as NET, will, as always, be supplying hundreds of hours of programming to its 144 noncommercial affiliates. As the new season begins, this is how things are shaping up at NET:

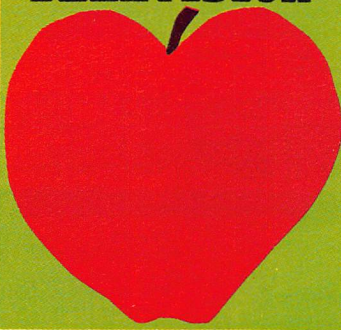

PBL (Public Broadcast Laboratory) has weathered a stormy first season and it bounces back, in a somewhat modified form, later this fall. There will be at least 22 weekly shows, on Sundays again, but beginning a half hour earlier, at 8 P.M. (ET). The shows will average 90 minutes, though individual programs may be as short as one hour or as long as two. Edward P. Morgan will again be a prominent part of PBL. Preliminary blueprints call for three out of every five shows to be devoted to a single theme, one out of five to be purely "cultural" and one to have a magazine format. Beyond that, the adjective "experimental" still applies.

NET Playhouse, the vehicle for the educational network's weekly dramatic presentations, has a distinctly British accent this year—a large proportion of the Playhouse productions have been imported from the BBC. They include works by Shakespeare, Chekhov, Strindberg, William Sansom and Jonathan Miller. In their casts are the likes of Sir John Gielgud, Robert Shaw, Dorothy Tutin, Pamela Brown and Milo O'Shea. There will be several American productions too, drawn from the repertoires of the U.S.'s regional theater companies. And NET Playhouse will screen a few movies ("Devi," by India's Satyajit Ray, for one).

NET Festival provides a weekly cultural repast—from Dr. Margaret Mead's New Guinea journal to "Happy New

EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION

Yves" (an hour of Yves Montand songs, sketches and dances). Also: "Apollo," featuring New York City Ballet dancers; "Olympiad," recalling the 1936 Berlin Olympics; programs focusing on conductors Zubin Mehta and Leopold Stokowski; and a special project — The Film Generation, a short series—within—a series surveying experimental films and their makers.

NET Journal plans documentaries on Czechoslovakia, psychological burdens of Negro children, the effects of social drinking, poverty in Appalachia, conservatives' views of the U.S., a Puerto Rican's view of his life in urban America, the matador El Cordobés and American Samoa.

Who Is . . . ? (each program fills in a different name), a weekly half-hour series, offers profiles of creative types—sculptor Jacques Lipchitz, jazzman Sonny Rollins, architect Walter Gropius, painter Rufino Tamayo, playwright Max Frisch and others.

The World Around Us is a new science series investigating our environment and our perceptions of it. It will run for eight weeks or so, then give way to the returning Spectrum science series.

Children's programs: The Salzburg Marionettes are seen in three specials—"Rapunzel," "The Snow Maiden" and "Snow White and Rose Red." Misterogers' Neighborhood, The Friendly Giant and What's New? return daily, with a full slate of new programs.

Interconnection—the live, full-network hookup of the Nation's educational stations—will be attempted whenever events warrant and finances permit. For example, the President's State of the Union address in January will, as it was this year, be telecast over it.

Nighttime Network Shows at a Glance

Chart shows day and time (ET) programs are originally telecast. Refer to your edition of TV GUIDE for local day, time and channel. New shows are in yellow. With occasional exceptions, all shows will be in color.

Some old shows will have a new look this season. The changes are, in several instances, a reflection of the widespread concern over two inflammatory national issues: violence in America and the place of the black man in our society. Other changes are dictated by less momentous considerations—such as the desire to keep old, tired shows looking fresh and vigorous.

Negroes have been cast in regular roles in Daniel Boone, The Felony Squad, Gentle Ben, Mannix and Peyton Place. Almost all returning shows will display more black faces in supporting roles and crowd scenes, in hopes of more accurately depicting America's racial makeup. And while more jobs are being promised to Negroes, less violence is promised viewers. Good guys and bad guys are going to be drawing their guns less often and smashing fists into faces with less frequency.

No family situation comedy would be worth a rating point if a new baby didn't come along every few seasons. Blessed events are due on The Mothers-in-Law, Petticoat Junction and My Three Sons (triplets!).

Other alterations:

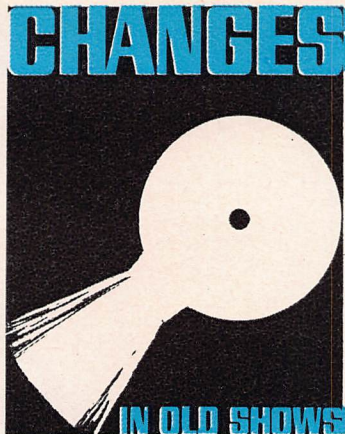

Lassie adds two new forest rangers, played by Jack De Mave and Jed Allan.

The Virginian has a new hired hand—David Hartman plays an ex-medical student from Pennsylvania who gets a job at Shiloh ranch.

The Flying Nun introduces a new character—a bumbling police chief, portrayed by Vito Scotti.

The Felony Squad is assigned a Negro detective, played by Robert DoQui.

Mannix junks that computer and sets up Mike Connors with his own one-man detective agency and a secretary (Gail Fisher).

Get Smart's Maxwell Smart (Don Adams) and Agent 99 (Barbara Feldon) are getting married.

Peyton Place had a Negro family move into town—Percy Rodriguez has the role of a neurosurgeon, Ruby Dee is his wife, Glynn Turman their teen-age son.

Gentle Ben provides a Negro friend for young Clint. Angelo Rutherford, 14, is the newcomer.

Petticoat Junction, in addition to its new baby, has a new train engineer (Byron Foulger) and country doctor (Regis Toomey).

Daktari adds two new characters—Ross Hagen in the role of a safari guide and Erin Moran, 7, as an orphan who joins the menagerie. Yale Summers (Jack) has left the show.

Gomer Pyle, USMC welcomes back Ronnie Schell, who left as a private for the short-lived Good Morning World and returns as a corporal.

The Mothers-in-Law sports not only a new baby but Richard Deacon (The Dick Van Dyke Show) as well. He's replacing Roger C. Carmel as Kaye Ballard's long-suffering husband.

Daniel Boone lost an Ed Ames but gained a Jimmy Dean (he plays a Boone companion). Another addition is Don Pedro Colley as a Canadian trapper named Gideon.

The Jonathan Winters Show has signed up Cliff Arquette for regular duty—he'll impersonate Jonathan's uncle in comedy sketches.

Finally, there are, as usual, time changes all over the schedule. You can catch up with them by consulting the chart on page 64, which tells when all the nighttime shows—old and new—will be telecast in most areas.

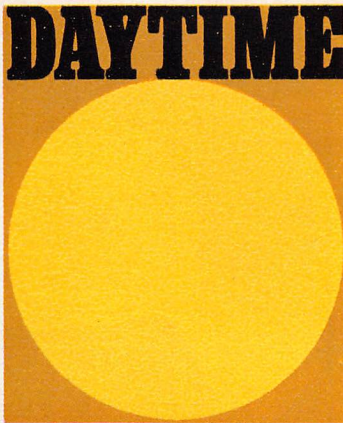

Nearly all of the pre-sunset changes this fall take place in the networks' child-beguiling—and often criticized—Saturday morning cartoon sandbox. Prodded by parents and press to cut down on excessive violence in these shows, the networks, touchier than ever on this subject, have plainly given the new crop of animated strips a scrupulous once-over. Result: More shows are being played mainly for laughs. Whether the laughs come, of course, is up to the kids. Here's what they'll be seeing:

Adventures of Gulliver uses Swift's satirical masterpiece of human follies as source material. Expect not, of course, the original copy. This is the customary expurgated cartoon version in which seafarer Lemuel Gulliver is set upon and, finally, befriended by the peewee Lilliputians. Debut: ABC, Sept. 14.

The Archie Show brings the Toby-faced comic-strip teen-ager to animated life. All the Riverdale High characters—Jughead, Reggie, Miss Grundy—are drawn into the video version. To guarantee the small fry at home a fair shake, the Archies, a rock group, teach a different dance step every week. Debut: CBS, Sept. 14.

The Banana Splits Adventure Hour is a change-of-pace answer to violence and gore. Slotted to run an hour, Splits mixes "live" action (four go-go singers dressed as animals), audience participation (e.g., the Banana Splits band playing volleyball and table tennis with the audience), cartoons ("The Three Musketeers," for one), a live-action serial and occasional reruns of such NBC Children's Theatre gems as "Stuart Little." Debut: NBC, Sept. 7.

The Batman - Superman Hour of Adventure takes Batman back to his roots—the ink pot. For this animated adaptation, the Caped Crusader is forced to share Superman's Saturday morning time—but not his phone booth. Debut: CBS, Sept. 14.

Fantastic Voyage is loosely based on the book and movie which chronicled the travels of dot-sized surgeons who, encased in a teeny-weeny submarine, navigated a professor's blood stream in search of a nasty clot. In the TV show the surgeons are now specialists who fight enemies, not only in the blood stream but also in snowflakes, raindrops and other microcosmics. Debut: ABC, Sept. 14.

The Go-Go Gophers (new to the CBS Network) are two rodents who think they are Indians. As if this identity crisis weren't enough of a problem for any gopher, there's this no-good critter, Col. Kit Coyote, who keeps trying to bury the burrowing pair—permanently. Debut: CBS, Sept. 14.

Wacky Races features a phalanx of wiggled-out road racers (the Ant Hill Mob, dirty Dick Dastardly, et al.) who weekly pile into their groovy wheels (the Buzz Wagon, the Arkansas Chugga Bug) to vie for the title of, we guess, Kook of the Road. Debut: CBS, Sept. 14.

Weekday mornings and afternoons offer the usual mixture of game shows, soap operas, talk shows and reruns of nighttime series. In that last category, the following prime-time retreads are beginning their first daytime tours: The Lucy Show (the Lucille Ball series seen Monday nights the last few years), which has started on CBS; I Spy and T.H.E. Cat, NBC; The Invaders, ABC.

The big story in sports this television season is, of course, the Summer Olympic Games, which ABC will be televising from Mexico City between Oct. 12 and 27. They'll do a record 44 hours of coverage, much of it live and all of it in color. A total of 22 sports will come in for attention, but most of the air time will go to track and field (with such U.S. stand-outs as Jim Ryun, Randy Matson and Bob Seagren) and swimming and diving (Debbie Meyer, Don Scholander and Mark Spitz). A pre-Olympic special goes on Oct. 6.

Sports fans can also look forward to seeing such events as these, right through the '68-69 season:

Professional Football: CBS once again will carry the National Football League, starting this Sunday, Sept. 15, with most regular-season games to be presented regionally on 14 Sundays through Dec. 15, followed by the usual play-offs.

NBC's handling of the American Football League's regular schedule, which started Sept. 6, will be similar (also ending on Dec. 15); both networks will beam plenty of double-headers, and each will have a Coast-to-Coast doubleheader on Thanksgiving Day. It's NBC's turn this season to broadcast the Super Bowl game (Jan. 12) between the NFL and AFL champs.

College Football: ABC is carrying 11 national and 24 regional games of the National Collegiate Athletic Association starting Sept. 14. All are on Saturdays except for Thanksgiving Day. Two will be done nationally this year in the evening:

Alabama at Miami on Nov. 16 and UCLA-USC at Los Angeles, Nov. 23.

ABC also has the Liberty Bowl (Dec. 14), North-South Shrine Game (Dec. 25), Gator Bowl (Dec. 28), East-West Shrine Game (Dec. 28), Hula Bowl (Jan. 4), the Coaches All-America Game in June or July, and the College All-Star Game in August.

NBC has its usual New Year's Day collegiate triple-header, starting with the Sugar Bowl and following up with the Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl. On Jan. 11 NBC will cover the Senior Bowl.

CBS's college football agenda consists of three post-season games: a double-header on Saturday, Dec. 28—the Blue-Gray football classic, followed by the Sun Bowl. On Jan. 1 it'll have the Cotton Bowl conflict. → Baseball: The World Series will be on NBC starting Oct. 2. On 25 Saturday afternoons and three Monday nights starting in April, the same network will telecast nationally a major league baseball game-of-the-week; and in July, you'll be seeing the All-Star Game, which this season will come from Washington, D.C., in celebration of baseball's centennial year.

Basketball: ABC will televise approximately 18 National Basketball Association games, including play-offs, starting in December. NBC plans to do four rounds of the NCAA championship tournament starting March 8, including afternoon double-headers on three Saturdays: March 8, 15 and 22, the last date being the finals. A semifinal game goes on in prime time, Thursday, March 20. CBS's basketball offerings include a first-round game of the National Invitation Tournament on Sunday, March 16, and the NIT championship on Saturday, March 22.

Golf: The CBS Golf Classic will be on Saturday afternoons starting in January. The 14 elimination matches will be followed by a two-day, 36-hole final, to be broadcast on a Saturday and Sunday. CBS also has the Masters from the Augusta National Golf Club on April 12 and 13, and the Canadian Open sometime next summer.

NBC will carry the Hawaiian Open from Honolulu, live, via satellite, on Nov. 9 and 10. The Bob Hope Desert Classic from Palm Springs goes on that network in February, and Wonderful World of Golf will be carried on 10 Saturday afternoons starting in January. (The latter has a new format with each show being an elimination, building to a final winner.)

ABC has a new two-year pact with the Professional Golfers' Association, giving them 10 top PGA events for the upcoming season: the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, the Andy Williams San Diego Open, the Phoenix Open, the Tournament of Champions, the Byron Nelson Classic, the Colonial Invitational from Fort Worth, the Westchester Golf Classic, the PGA Championship, and two others to be determined. The network also will once again have the U.S. Open and the British Open.

Bowling: ABC has the Professional Bowlers Tour starting Jan. 11.

Horse Racing: The Triple Crown races will be visible on CBS: Kentucky Derby (May 3), Preakness (May 17) and Belmont Stakes (May 31 or June 7).

Ice Hockey: Starting in early January, CBS will present a National Hockey League game-of-the-week on Sunday afternoons, to be followed by coverage of the Stanley Cup play-offs when the regular season is over.

Soccer: Professional soccer returns to CBS in late April for its third season on the network. A North American Soccer League game will be visible every Sunday, concluding with the league championships in early September.

ABC's Wide World of Sports on Saturday afternoons will have its usual mixed bag of sports goodies: auto racing, boxing, gymnastics, surfing and so forth. This month and next a lot of its time will be devoted to Summer Olympics-type events.

Also on ABC, on Sunday afternoons, the American Sportsman will be back for its fifth season. Celebrity hunters and fishermen will go off with host Curt Gowdy to locales in Europe, Africa, South America, Canada and the U.S.

Amazing New Package

*"Don't cry, dear
it's moisture resistant."*

In 1935, Morton introduced a special salt box that was moisture-treated, top, bottom, inside and out. As significant as that was, if it were the only thing Morton had done, it's not likely they would have stayed America's salt favorite for 57 years.

No salt salts like Morton Salt salts.

When it rains it pours.
